Supervisors Support Service Vote

San Mateo County Board of Supervisors Tuesday went on record as favoring granting the privilege to vote to members of the United States armed forces overseas and adopted a resolution requesting state representatives to "sponsor, actively work for, and support such legislation."

The board also urged the consolidation of the presidential primary election with the general primary election, with the recommendation that such consolidated election should be held May 16.

Should legislation be adopted consolidating the two elections, it would do away with the Aug. 29 primary. May 2 is the scheduled date for the presidential primary.

The resolution declared that the latter request was made in the interests of economy and simplicity, stating that if the two election dates were consolidated it would mean a saving of some $50,000 to San Mateo County and several millions of dollars to the state.

In regard to the recommendation that members of the armed forces overseas be allowed to vote, the resolution stated:

"The board of supervisors does most heartily agree with the present demand as voiced by public press and radio, that ways and means must be provided whereby the voting privilege shall be made available in the most simplified form possible for all overseas forces. . . ."

Presentation of petitions to the supervisors urging that the Millbrae Police Dist. be changed from a limited to an unlimited district led to revelation of the possibility that Milibrae may be incorporated.

Announcement that a committee of five persons representing 14 organizations had been appointed to study the advisability of incorporating Millbrae was made by Percy Cavanaugh, Millbrae civic leader.

The petitions containing 485 names requesting the formation of an unlimited police district, which would raise the salary of Police Chief Frank Palmieri and bring about his retention of the job, were turned over by the board to the district attorney's office for recommendation as to their legal form. Definite action will be held up pending the opinion and a reasonable time will be allowed for Millbrae residents to determine whether it would be better to incorporate or to change from a limited to an unlimited police district, Supervisor Chmn. Fred E. Beer said.

The supervisors also declared their intention of forming a sanitary district in the north end of San Mateo County from the north city limits of Burlingame to and including South San Francisco and areas draining into that district.

An offer of the Palo Alto engineering firm of Thomas, Macabee & Whipple to make a survey of the proposed sanitary district at no expense to the county or to the cities involved precipitated a heated battle between James S. James of the Burlingame engineering firm of James & Waters and L. Cedric Macabee of the Palo Alto firm.

James attacked the offer of Thomas, Macabee & Whipple, declaring that the acceptance of this offer would not result in any benefits to the county but, on the other hand, would be detrimental to the people of the proposed district.

James charged the Palo Alto firm's letter was "very cleverly worded. To the casual reader the offer seems to be clear, bonafide and extremely generous. However, the very last sentence, 'We anticipate appointment by the sanitary board of the proposed district if and when formed,' creates a doubt of sincerity."

Police Report Dwelling Burglary

Police reported Monday that the dwelling at 1102 Jefferson Ave. was entered Saturday afternoon, and a man's wallet containing about $15 and a driver's license was taken. The burglary was reported by Mrs. Rose M. Davis.

An electrolier near Broadway and El Camino Real was knocked down, apparently by someone backing into it early this morning..

Five bicycles, parked on city streets in violation of the recent city ordinance, were impounded yesterday. Three were returned to their owners by police. Two were unlicensed, and the licenses were taken out before they were released.

Workers Find Safe, War Bonds

Two men Tuesday afternoon on the Burl-Burl Ranch near Baden missed their shovel and while looking for it they discovered a small iron safe containing two $25 war bonds and several important documents, including insurance policies, buried near a side road a mile off El Camino Real.

Chief Dep. Sheriff Walter Moore, who was notified of the discovery and brought the safe to the sheriff's office here, said the safe was stolen Saturday from Frank Perotta of San Francisco. Jewelry, including a jade ring and a diamond engagement ring, were missing. Moore said he had not learned the value of the stolen items.

The safe had been filed open.

The safe was discovered by B. Fontana, operator of the ranch, and his son, whose name was not learned by the sheriff's office, near the spot where they found their shovel. Moore said the shovel had been taken from a shed on the ranch to bury the safe.

Red Cross Quota Doubled

War fund campaign quota of the Redwood City chapter of the American Red Cross for 1944 has been set at $58,500, it was announced today by Mrs. William A. Baxter, chairman of the campaign, which will start Mar. 1 and run for the month. This is double the sum set for 1943.

Of the total quota, $35,000 will remain in the chapter treasury, representing the budget for the year, and the remainder, $23,500, will go to the national organization as this chapter's share of the sum required for national and international activities of the Red Cross.

"We are confident the people of Redwood City will wish to do their share in meeting the increased war time responsibilities of the American Red Cross on the battle front and on the home front," Mrs. Baxter said today.

Activities of the Redwood City chapter have increased almost daily, Mrs. Baxter said, in commenting on the increased quota for 1944. Construction of Dibble General Hospital and attendant responsibilities of the chapter for services maintained in connection with the institution, plus work carried on in the past which must be continued, have increased the budget. The national budget quota of $200,000,000, she said, shows an increase of 60 per cent over last year's goal of $125,000,000.

In estimating the share that each chapter in the Pacific area must assume of the national goal, Mrs. Baxter said population shifts, changes in economic conditions and war quotas have been considered.

Henry Adamson Dies in Plane Crash; Navy Reports Death of Robert Furnas

Redwood City has added two gold stars to its service flag as the deaths of Robert W. Furnas, aviation radioman, and Henry Adamson, merchant marine, were reported officially to their families.

Adamson, 32, whose wife and children live at 240 Outer Circle, was killed in a plane crash somewhere in the South Pacific area, it was revealed with the receipt of two letters from the steamship firm for which he sailed and one from one of his buddies in the service.

All three letters were received by his wife Tuesday. They included the first word she had received that any mishap had occurred.

Information included in the letters revealed that Adamson and several companions were taking a plane trip over uncivilized jungle on one of the Pacific islands when the plane crashed. There were no survivors. Mrs. Adamson was at a loss as to why her husband was in the plane, though the letters indicated the men were on a sightseeing flight at the time of the crash.

The letter from Adamson's friend, Bob Walker, said funeral services had been held at a Pacific base.

Before entering the merchant marine on Sept. 28, 1943, Adamson was a printer for the Willits Printing Co. in San Francisco. He and his wife had lived in Redwood City for five years. There are two children, Allen, 5, and Marcia, 3.

Adamson was a native of Monterey where his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Adamson, now live. He has a brother, Herman, and a sister, Velma, both of Monterey.

Adamson sailed almost immediately after entering the merchant marine and had not been back to Redwood City since that time.

Coincidentally, the three letters, telling of Adamson's death arrived on the same day. Two of the letters were from the Isthmian Steamship Co., one sent by air mail and the other by regular mail for confirmation from New York, and the other was from Walker, mailed in Australia.

Furnas was reported missing in the South Pacific area on Sept. 15, 1943, but a letter received from his commanding officer Tuesday by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Furnas, 110 Stratford St., stated definitely that he had been killed.

Comdr. E. C. Sanders of the navy reported that the plane on which Furnas was a radioman, had been found on the Gilbert Islands and that all crew members had been killed. Natives had recovered enough evidence to determine definitely that the plane was the same one as that in which Furnas last flew.

The only other word Mr. and Mrs. Furnas had received was a letter of sympathy from the commanding officer, but yesterday's letter was the first telling definitely of his death.

Furnas entered the naval reserve in July, 1942. Upon completion of his boot training he was selected for training as an aviation radioman, graduating from the radio school at Alameda in December, 1942.

He completed advanced training in aerial gunnery at Jacksonville, Fla.

He left the United States early in May with a bombing squadron for combat duty in the South Pacific. The last letter from him received by his parents was dated Aug. 12.

Furnas was a graduate of Sequoia High School in 1941. While there he was a member of the tumbling and diving teams. In 1940 he won first place in the lightweight diving meet held at Stanford University for Northern California high schools.

He was a native of Hanford. His brother, Gene Furnas, is in the army air corps.

K. of C. Plans Charity Benefit

San Mateo Council, Knights of Columbus, will conduct a charity and war work benefit program Saturday at the council hall, Baldwin Ave., and San Mateo Dr., San Mateo.

All receipts not already earmarked for the council's war activities program, will be deposited to the charity fund for future needs, officers said.

Saturday's program will include a 10-act stage show starting at 8:15, an orchestra, dancing, refreshments and games.

Augustus Suggests Vote Change

County Clerk William H. Augustus has suggested an alternative primary election date should the state legislature fail to heed the County Board of Supervisors' recommendation made yesterday that the May 2 presidential primary election and the Aug. 29 primary election be consolidated.

Augustus, who declared he hoped the election dates would be consolidated and that the election be held May 16, suggested that in case the elections are not consolidated that the Aug. 29 election be moved up to Aug. 8 to allow more time to handle overseas ballots, should a law be passed permitting members of the armed forces overseas to vote.

Augustus declared that should the original election dates remain in effect, Mar. 23 would be the last day for voters to register for the May 2 presidential primary, July 20 would be the last day to register for the Aug. 29 primary, and Sept. 28 for the Nov. 7 general election.

City elections will not be affected, regardless of what the legislature decides about election dates, Augustus said. Mar. 2 will be the last day for voters to register for city elections (San Mateo is not affected).

Whatever the election dates, Augustus pointed out, voters must register 40 days prior to the time of election in order to vote.

Terms of only three county officials expire this year. They are Superior Court Judge Maxwell McNutt, who is now recuperating at his home in San Mateo from a bronchial ailment, and Supervisors John W. Poole of Redwood City and Alvin S. Hatch of Half Moon Bay.

Even freezing weather doesn't interrupt this recreation, he says.

On his return to this country, North first received care at the Oak Knoll Hospital, Oakland, and was sent to Glenwood Springs late in November.

VERN SANDERS TO COMPLETE TRAINING

PFC Vern Sanders of Redwood City has been attending airplane mechanics school at the Lincoln Army Air Field since Aug. 15, 1943. He expects to graduate soon and probably will be transferred to an aircraft factory.

Concerning Lincoln, PFC Sanders said "the Lincoln hospitality here is really swell to service men, but I'm afraid the weather is a bit too chilly in the winter for a native Californian to survive. The thought of shipping reminds me of 'Climate Best by Government.'

"PFC Thomas Coats and PFC Carl Ziegler, also of Redwood City and stationed here at the base, are looking forward to being at home too, very shortly."

SUPERVISORS: Board Sets New Nurse Pay Rate

San Mateo County Board of Supervisors at an adjourned meeting Tuesday afternoon voted to establish an $8-a-day pay rate for emergency nurses at Community Hospital upon recommendation of the County Civil Service Commission.

Dr. Charles C. Gans, director of the health and welfare department, last month declared an emergency at the hospital because he was unable to get emergency nurses at the $5-a-day rate of pay and the commission at that time boosted the rate temporarily to $7 a day.

Among other business transacted by the supervisors Tuesday.

1. Authorized Treasurer A. H. Sagehorn to purchase $400,000 worth of certificates of indebtedness with county funds. This amount will be apportioned to cities throughout the county.

2. Voted to purchase final portion of the Howard Estate east of Bayshore Hwy. at San Mateo Point for $4000.

4. Annexed Pilarcitos Elementary School District to Coastside Union Elementary School District.

5. Announced that Dr. Gans and Dist. Atty. Gilbert D. Ferrell are working together on revision of the commercial hog raising ordinance.

6. Instructed County Engineer M. A. Grant to proceed with a survey of a water supply proposal connecting the San Francisco Water Co. with a proposed water district on the Coastside.

The supervisors at the afternoon session called in Mrs. Helen Burger, acting secretary of the civil service commission, to explain recommended changes in certain employes' salaries and classifications.

B. G. Cost's title was changed from steward of the County Relief Home to manager. In the assessor's office, a clerk advanced to chief clerk's rating and was granted a $10 a month increase; in the controller's office a bookkeeping machine operator was advanced to a senior rating; a typist clerk advanced to senior rating in the engineer's office.

City Council Delays Sewage Deal

Residents of the Kensington Square area, adjacent to the west city limits of Redwood City, today were without permission to connect their own sewage system with sewage lines of the city following consideration of their appeal at a meeting of the city council Monday.

Despite recommendation of City Mgr. Robert W. Mead that the city immediately sign an agreement with the Kensington Square Sewage Dist. permitting use of the city's sewer lines, members of the council refused to rush action without further consideration.

The agreement submitted to the council provided that the 79 lots in the district, 29 now occupied, be permitted to tie in sewage lines at Jefferson and James Aves. at a cost of 50 cents a month for each connection with the district paying for installation of all extra laterals and connections.

Mead said his engineering staff had gone over the project and found the city's sewer system fully large enough to handle the extra load with ease. He pointed out that an emergency situation existed in the area where only unsatisfactory septic tanks are now available and declared the present condition is a health menace to the city as well as the district.

Two points of doubt were raised by councilmen:

1. Guarantee of collecting fees.

2. Ability of the city system to handle the extra load.

Mayor Floyd D. Granger and Councilman W. W. Hilton asked Mead whether or not he had consulted Willis Frost, designated some months ago by the city as a consulting engineer whenever needed. Mead replied that he had not for he felt the city's staff was fully capable of conducting a thorough and satisfactory survey and that he was satisfied as to the feasibility of the plan.

Mead expressed disappointment that the council lacked faith in the city's own engineering staff, but agreed to consult further with Frost.

Council asked Mead and City Atty. Paul A. McCarthy to consult with the board of supervisors on methods of collecting fees, which would be under county jurisdiction, and to determine whether or not the county would guarantee the city's receipts.

Further aggravating the situation was the fact that members of the district had gone ahead with plans even to announcing low bidder on the contract before consulting the city for permission to connect with the Redwood City lines. Action was tabled either until the next regular meeting or until a special meeting is called in the meantime.

Health and safety measures within the city occupied a major place in business of the council throughout the meeting.

At the suggestion of Councilman Chester Armstrong the board authorized Mead and Fire Chief Mark Ryan to meet with Boy Scout authorities and to work out methods of improving fire escape facilities at the old Manual Arts Bldg., where scout headquarters are now located.

Ryan reported the building in its present condition is unsafe for scout meetings, but that the situation could be corrected at least partially by use of the rear entrance as well as the front. Mead and Ryan were asked to make a further report at the next council meeting.

Councilman Carl Britschgi asked whether or not the fire escape at the Sequoia Hotel was satisfactory and Ryan reported that facilities were not good and should be improved. He added that several other buildings in the city also were unsafe. McCarthy and Mead were asked to look further into the matter for means of enforcing fire safety measures.

Councilman Evans Fletcher asked for an investigation of sanitary conditions at the dining car on El Camino Real between Broadway and Brewster Ave. County Health Authority Royal Hodge said an investigation had been made recently in regards to silverware and that some faulty silver had been picked up. He added that sanitary corrective measures had been advised and that the county department would continue to check the premises.

Fletcher pointed out that the diner was constructed in 1934 on a temporary permit, revokable at any time, and that he was about ready to vote to cancel the permit.

Hodge reported that Redwood City is more free of rats than other communities in the county and that progress is being made against those in existence here.

SCOUTS: Many Attend Cubbing Training Course

A large delegation of scouters from the Southern Division headed by J. J. McCann attended the first 1944 training course in basic principles of cubbing held at St. Paul's Church in Burlingame Sunday. Dr. J. M. Foley, council cub commissioner handled the first course. One hundred and three cubbers answered the call—coming from every part of the county—those attending from the Southern Division were Mr. and Mrs. Hal Honoré, J. J. McCann, Mrs. M. Bell, Mrs. D. S. Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. Philip L. Johnson, Mrs. G W. Siegfried, Remo Marchi, C. S. Grandi. It is felt by the leadership training committee that this particular course will contribute in great measure to the improvement of cubbing program in the county. The principle speakers were cubbing Dist. Comsr. Milton Landgrebe, John F. Linden, vice-chairman of the training leadership committee, Mesdames Foley and Benninghoven, Leroy Welch, J. V. Christie and Mrs. G. McCullough who conducted a model den meeting.

Committee To Allot Farm Feed

Because of the nationwide shortage of linseed, cottonseed, soybean and other high protein feeds for maximum milk, eggs, and beef production, plans have been completed for setting aside 20 per cent of all production for emergency use. The San Mateo County Agricultural Conservation Assn. will allot supplies to farmers in San Mateo County as acute current shortages may appear from week to week.

Farmers in San Mateo County will get these extra supplies through their regular dealer after making application to the AAA committee at Half Moon Bay.

In order to facilitate the equitable distribution of these emergency supplies the AAA committee has named a special feed committee composed of the following:

George N. Keyston, livestock rancher, San Mateo; Joseph H. Cunha, feeds and fertilizers, Half Moon Bay; Frank Siri, farmer, East Palo Alto; Norman Souza, stock rancher, farmer, San Gregorio; E. W. Stephens, president South San Francisco stockyards, Burlingame; Frank Zwissig, Millbrae Dairy, Burlingame.

Grand Jury Will Probe Hospital

Dr. H. W. S. Hayes, superintendent of Community Hospital at San Mateo, and six other members of the institution's staff, including doctors and nurses, will be subpoenaed to a meeting of the San Mateo County Grand Jury tonight in an effort to bring to a head the "wheres and wherefors" of the much-publicized patient and personnel problem at the county's hospital, it was revealed today.

Robert P. Holliday, advertising executive whose home is at San Mateo, foreman of the county grand jury, declared that the food question would be one of the hospital's various problems to be taken up at the meeting. Recommendations made by a hospital investigating committee headed by E. F. B. Ridgway of Redwood City, member of the grand jury, will be presented, Holliday said.

Names of those to be subpoenaed besides Dr. Hayes were not released today because the subpoenas have not as yet been served, but it was believed that Miss Mabel Wilson, superintendent of nurses at the hospital, and two nurses who last week turned in their resignations and giving the type of food served as their reasons for resigning will be called. Dr. Beatrice Lee, polio expert, who last week gave loss of weight as her reason for resigning, also may be called before the grand jury.

It was rumored today that administration and management of the institution would be the principal targets at Friday night's meeting, with the grand jury attempting to fix authority and responsibility in an effort to straighten out the situation. There has been considerable "buck-passing" among hospital officials during the turbulent period at the institution.

Patients and personnel of the hospital in September petitioned Dr. Charles C. Gans, director of health and welfare, for better food, declaring the food served in the hospital dining room is 'inadequate to maintain normal health, is unappetizing and is served unattractively." Dr. Gans submitted the matter to Dr. Hayes.

The petitions spurred County Executive Frederick Peterson to ask the grand jury to make an investigation of the health and welfare department. Dr. Gans was called before the grand jury at a meeting in November.

Last week six nurses resigned from the hospital, two of them listing the type of food served as the reason for their resignations.

Meantime, Mrs. Helen Burger, acting secretary of the San Mateo County Civil Service Commssion, said today that a request by Dr. Gans for a general raise in pay for employes of his department would be discussed at a meeting Wednesday afternoon. She said Dr. Gans probably would be asked for more specific recommendations.

Albert W. Brunner Receives Minor Injuries

Albert W. Brunner, 47, Box 241, San Carlos, received minor injuries at 8:45 p.m. Sunday when the automobile he was driving ran off the right shoulder of the road on Coast Hwy. two-thirds of a mile south of Half Moon Bay and hit a power pole. Brunner, a Western Pipe & Steel Co. employe, told the California Highway Patrol that he had been blinded by bright lights of an oncoming car.

War Chest Achieves Full Quota

Counting the cash contributions, the pledges made, and credits of the moneys paid direct to the organizations designated in the national and local chest, the San Mateo County War Chest exceeded its quota by about $3000.

"The goal of $225,580 was passed and all elements in the County of San Mateo are jubilant at the result of the first War Chest and Community Chest campaign ever conducted in this county," said E. H. Cosgriff, president of the chest.

"The volunteer soliciting committees were organized and directed under the leadership of Capt. Lorne G. McAloney, executive secretary. Civic minded leaders of the different cities and districts rallied to the support of this leadership, and 28 district chairmen, together with their co-chairmen and precinct workers, made a most thorough and effective coverage of business and residential areas in the county.

"Labor, industry, business and employes in every line, and thousands of individuals, through their contributions, made possible the success of our campaign.

"All six local organizations in our chest have been paid in full their quotas that were accepted by our budget and admission committee for the year 1944. Also a generous check has been forwarded to the California War Chest as first payment on our war-related appeals quota."

Old Glory is believed to have been first raised at Portsmouth, N. H., on July 4, 1777, where John Paul Jones was preparing to sail on the "Ranger."

CITY COUNCIL: Members Vote Approval To Removing Property From Fire Zone

Members of the Redwood City City Council, after some four months of consideration, Monday approved removal of Lot 7, Block A, from the city fire zone on recommendation of the City Planning Commission, but over protests of Olin Nuckolls, representing property owners in the area.

County Assessor Martin J. Flynn has carried on a continuous fight to have the property, which is part of his father's estate, removed from the fire zone, but was not present at the meeting.

Council approval, carried a qualification that no building permit should be issued for the property by the building inspector without council approval. The precaution was taken to assure surrounding property owners that multiple dwelling units would not be constructed there pending adoption of zoning law amendments.

Nuckolls contended that since the planning commission had tabled action on a number of amendments to the zoning ordinance until the public could be given an opportunity to be heard, the Vera Ave. change also should be postponed until that time.

Councilman Chester Armstrong, however, expressed the opinion of the council when he said that he felt action could be delayed no longer, especially in view of the fact that the planning group had made three recommendations that the property be removed from the fire zone. It was Armstrong's motion, too, which provided the qualification to council's action.

At the suggestion of Fred Carbine, an air raid warden and a member of Monday's council audience, members of the board authorized City Mgr. Robert W. Mead and City Atty. Paul A. McCarthy to confer with R. F. Martin, owner of the Redwood City Bus Lines, on the matter of co-ordinating bus fares.

Carbine said that passengers of Route B on the city line are entitled to ride to the center of the city for 10 cents during the day until 4 p.m. at which time the service is removed from a portion of the route and passengers are obliged to take the Middlefield Rd. bus, owned by the same firm, and transfer later, but must pay two fares of 10 cents each. He expressed the belief that passengers should not be penalized simply by a time of the day and that they should be entitled to transfers from one bus to another at the one fare of 10 cents.

Councilmen agreed that the matter merited investigation and McCarthy expressed the belief that Martin will make the change when the matter is brought to his attention.

A proposal by Councilman Armstrong that members of the board meet in executive private session on the Mondays when regular meetings are not held in order to discuss matters in advance of the public sessions met little favorable response from other members of the council.

Councilman Carl Britschgi particularly defended the present policy of discussing all council business in public session with the remark that if "any member has anything to say, he should get it out into the open."

Councilman Evans Fletcher expressed definite opposition to what he termed "star chamber sessions."

Armstrong remarked that he had nothing to say "downstairs" that he was afraid to say "up here," but declared members were not able to reach adequate decisions on short notice.

Britschgi pointed out that business which had not been adequately considered always could be placed on the agenda for the next meeting.

For lack of support, Armstrong's proposal was abandoned.

"HEROIC DRUDGERY"

Is it sometimes hard for you to figger you are doing war work?

You don't have to be welding ships or loading shells to be a war worker. Maybe YOUR work consists of sweeping floors or typewriting or running an elevator or delivering mail, but if the products of your company are helping the war, YOU are doing war work.

A great American general recently spoke of the "heroic drudgery" of the ground crews who make those spectacular bombing raids possible. "Heroic drudgery" is the lot of millions in this tremendous war . . . over there—and back here.

The more un-glamorous, the less exciting, the more monotonous your job, the more heroic it is apt to be, in a manner of speaking.

"VERY NEARLY" IS TOO DANGEROUS

"Nearly everything in history very nearly didn't happen," said Philip Guedella. We very nearly lost this war, almost before it started. And we very nearly might not win it, even yet, if we home front workers don't get over the feeling that it is practically all over but the shouting.

We certainly don't want Hitler to say some day: "I very nearly didn't win the war."

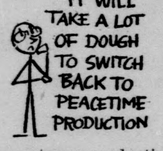
With news of every allied victory, comes the temptation to relax, but one look at the map of Europe or of the South Pacific shows that we haven't got much farther than first base.

THE BUYER IS THE REAL BOSS

At all times and in all transactions, the customer is the boss. A factory or a company is only the middleman between the man who buys (usually at his own price) and the man who makes. It is not such a comfortable spot as some folks imagine—trying to please both ends.

At present, Uncle Sam is, in the case of most factories, the buyer (at his price). Factory management is of course glad to do its best to try to bring the buyer and the "men who make" together as efficiently as possible.

WAR IS NOT PROFITABLE



War is no picnic from a profit standpoint, and of course it shouldn't be. In 1940, the last full year before we entered the war, about 9½ cents out of every dollar that Johns-Manville took in, were profit. But in 1942, the first year of war, only about 5 cents were profit.

Yet there must be some profit if factories are to have funds to prepare for post-war production and thus avoid another great national wave of unemployment.

LITTLE JOURNEYS TO J-M PLANTS

The Johns-Manville plant at Huntington Park, in Los Angeles, is a top producer of asphalt shingles and roofings, which have put tops on army and navy bases along the West Coast.

Also, this plant has served as a warehouse for products of other J-M plants, to supply the essential needs of the almost frenzied wartime activity on the Western seaboard.

Commuters Open Bond Campaign

BY JOE CABOOSE

Getting off to a flying start in their Fourth War Loan drive, the Commuters subscribed $15,000 in bonds at their regular monthly dinner meeting at Sodini's last Thursday evening.

Whether it was the silver-tongued oratory of Gen. Chmn. Jake Buhler, guest of the club, or the impassioned straight-from-the-heart appeals of Jack Welch and Miles McDonald, we do not know. But Bill Leahy started the bond ball rolling by subscribing $1000. Charley Hellwig followed with another thousand; then Fred Dutweiler pledged $2520 and Lloyd Liebman followed with $3000.

The subscriptions then came so thick and fast we lost track; but you may be sure Club Treas. Clarence Brizee got them all down. Clarence is the Commuters' able chairman of the club's war bond committee. We think Lu Reiss, a member of the committee, pledged a thousand or two, and Sunday night we saw Dutweiler on the street and he told us Charley Woodmansee, who has been ill, wanted to be put down for 2 G's.

★ ★ ★

Lu Winkenwerder, Richard tum Suden, Tom Cutting and others were among the "G" group of subscribers, but to save our life we can't remember them all. Al Armitage had previously been working among Commuters and is believed to have pledges approximating $5000, made up of smaller denominations. Claude Gerdes is a new addition to Brizee's bond committee.

★ ★ ★

There is no scientific proof of this, but it is believed the reason 45 Commuters showed more war bond enthusiasm Thursday night than 165 chamber of commerce diners showed Wednesday night is that the Commuters ate steak at $1.65 per copy and no points whereas the C-of-C ate chicken at $2 per copy . . . after being allowed one point-free look at a luscious cooked steak at the door on the way in.

★ ★ ★

This was undoubtedly a mis-steak on the part of the chamber boys. In fact, the incident made everyone steak conscious and there was visible evidence of drooling on the part of those less capable of controlling their emotions. We could have sworn that Chmn. Jim Hedge introduced Guest Speaker Musatti as "general manager of the California Steak Chamber of Commerce, and that Treas. Carl Ward called his report a "financial steakment."

★ ★ ★

Among Commuters at this steakless steakfest were Vice Pres. and Mrs. John Brand, Secretary McKeegan, Treasurer Brizee, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Perkins, Bert Conroy, new Commuter Club representative on the chamber's board of directors, and Mrs. Conroy; Councilman Chester Armstrong, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Winkenwerder, Paul McCarthy and your own Uncle Joe.

★ ★ ★

Seriously it was a grand meal and a swell party. The Redwood City Chamber of Commerce is now a real live organization and a credit to the community. Auctioneer John Brand did a nice job to get the $7200 he did with the loaf of bread and the much-ogled steak.

★ ★ ★

Speaking of things to eat, we just read where the arbiters of etiquette have approved, due to the shortage of butter, the dunking of bread in the surplus gravy on your plate. Gosh, we've been doing that for years! . . . We lunched at a Nob Hill hotel the other day and our entree, believe it or not, was "chopped Wyoming Buffalo steak." Tasted like beef.

★ ★ ★

Personals . . . Fred Jaeger has resigned his position with a San Francisco florist to go into business for himself . . . Frank Brady, who suffered a broken arm several weeks ago, is now quite ill with pneumonia . . . Paul Allen of San Carlos was recently made an assistant vice president of the Anglo California Bank in San Francisco . . . Mrs. Walter Harden is in Mills Hospital with a recurrence of a former illness.

★ ★ ★

We just took one quick look at those income tax forms, all eight of them, and decided we don't like nobody. They remind us of Uncle Jim's old slogan "if you can't convince 'em, confuse 'em!" We are willing to wager there aren't three government men in the Bay Area, including John Eshleman, who knows how to make 'em out.

★ ★ ★

The club just received a very interesting letter from Lloyd Moore, formerly of Palomar Park, now on duty for an oil company somewhere in the Far East. Lloyd writes cheerfully of his life there, but is hungry for news from home. So you Commuters with time on your hands drop him a line, address as follows: L. L. Moore, California Arabian Standard Oil Co., APO 795-A c/o Postmaster, New York City, N. Y.

Commuters please remember . . . The club's bond selling day in Redwood City is Feb. 12. That's the day we handle the street sales booth, and try to go over the top ahead of any other organization competing in the Fourth War Loan drive. Whether you belong to the club or not, if you are a commuter won't you please subscribe for your bonds at the Commuters' booth on Feb. 12, or by addressing the club care Treasurer Brizee, Redwood City Commuters Club, P. O. Box 733? Let's give 'em the old one-two on home community spirit!

CIVILIAN DEFENSE: Active Organization Gains Protective Equipment for City

Because Redwood City maintained an actively functioning civilian defense corps here, thousands of dollars worth of protective equipment was supplied to the city without cost by the federal government during 1943, it is revealed in the annual report of the Redwood City war council, submitted to the executive board last night.

Included in this equipment are pumps, rubber hose, protective clothing, tools, fire extinguishers, helmets, medical supplies, gas masks, decontamination suits and similar supplies.

Other additions made to civilian defense equipment during the year without cost, enumerated in the report, are the completely equipped $800 gas decontamination station set up at Sequoia High School by the county of San Mateo, and a portable field operating table designed and built by the first aid unit. The defense organization also has the use of a pickup truck equipped with road signs, stretcher, first aid kit and tools furnished by the members of the bomb reconnaissance unit at their own expense. American Legion Post and Auxiliary Unit 105 have earmarked $300 to purchase a chassis for an ambulance, the body to be furnished by the office of civilian defense, the report shows.

To integrate the various services of civilian defense more closely, the city was divided into six zones last year, with a co-ordinator in charge of each. In April, public meetings of the war council were initiated, with members of the city council, chiefs of special services, special officers, the press and others interested invited to attend and offer suggestions.

Talks made by selected speakers for meetings of service clubs and organizations and school assemblies during the year numbered 35. Topics relating to the war effort, such as civilian defense, Red Cross, WACS and WAVES procurement, were discussed, sometimes accompanied by film showings. These meetings, the report stated, were directly responsible for a renewed interest in civilian defense and a greater understanding of the problems incidental to the maintenance of the local organization.

Six public gatherings were held at the Sequoia High School and McKinley Auditoriums during the year, with the following speakers: Col. T. H. Jacobsen, former member of the American consular service in Norway; Maj. Frank S. Gaines, office of civilian defense, 9th region; N. J. L. Pieper, director San Francisco office, Federal Bureau of Investigation; Maj. Gen. Walter N. Hamilton, USA, office of naval procurement.

Training classes for certification of civilian defense workers in various phases of defense work were provided, the report shows, as well as a special class in basic OCD subjects and blackout driving for 25 Greyhound bus drivers, registered with the council as a transport unit, and co-operating with the evacuation chairman. Several members of the staff were assigned to various schools for courses in special subjects, such as evacuation procedure, technique of protection, staff administration, gas specialists' training and bomb reconnaissance.

Five air raid shelters were established during the year, through arrangements made with the owners of the Bridgeland, Duane and El Centro apartments, Montgomery Ward & Co. and County Mgr. Frederick Peterson for the use of basements in buildings under their jurisdiction. Signs were provided and erected by the city war council.

A recruiting drive conducted in September during civilian defense week netted 179 volunteers for civilian defense and Red Cross service. Norman Meyer headed this committee with the assistance of newspapers and theaters, and the public relations and speakers' committees of the civilian defense organization.

The summary of the year's activities of the war council lists 21 council meetings, 6 citywide incident drills covering all sectors, 2 control center drills, 3 yellow signals, 2 blue signals, 1 blackout and 1 air raid signal test of equipment under army regulations.

Due to revision of the civilian defense program in September, telephone installations in control center 2 were reduced, the center itself remaining as set up ready for emergency service.

A total of 1056 volunteers subject to call in emergency were available at the end of the year, 684 of them active certified workers and 372 with 75 per cent of their training complete.

Mayor Floyd D. Granger is chairman of the war council. C. C. Armstrong was added to the council last year, the other members being Duncan Reynard, Louis Dematteis, S. S. Mayo and Ralph Dodge. City Mgr. R. W. Mead acts as controller and W. H. Thorpe as director of training. Zone co-ordinators are E. J. Zimmer, J. P. Cullen, V. L. Roberts, H. J. McDonnell, Fred Carbine and Guy H. Burns.

Reports of the various chairmen will be summarized in future issues of the Tribune. Chief M. E. Ryan's report on the auxiliary fire service has already been published.

SUMMARY: City Council Hears Report on Used Cars

An investigation of used car sales practices in Redwood City, made in response to charges made at the Jan. 3 meeting of the Redwood City City Council, revealed no automobile dealer operating more than one used car lot within the city and no service stations selling used automobiles, City Mgr. Robert W. Mead reported to the council Monday.

Original assertions that some dealers were operating more than one used car lot and that service stations were selling cars were made at the Jan. 3 meeting during debate of an application of Weitner Motor Co. to operate a lot adjacent to and south of its building on El Camino Real and Winklebleck St.

In a second report, requested at the Jan. 3 meeting, Mead revealed 10 city employes all either on 24-hour call or requiring transportation for city business outside of regular hours, take city-owned vehicles to their homes at night.

The report was filed with council approval, but with the admonition that if city cars were being used for other than city business, the practice was without council approval. Mead said he knew of no abuse of the privilege.

During the meeting council also:

Approved applications for dance permits made by Court Madrone 155, Foresters of America, and Howard Frederick:

Authorized attendance by Mead at a meeting of the Peninsula subcommittee of the Bay Area Transport Committee to be held in Belmont on Jan. 25. The invitation was extended by Laura Roeder, representing the Belmont Chamber of Commerce and the Peninsula subcommittee. Matters to be discussed include locations of air transport facilities on the Peninsula in the postwar period.

Noted an invitation to attend a meeting of the Peninsula division, League of California Cities, to be held in Palo Alto Thursday.

Approved use of funds for publication of a new map of the city to be distributed by the chamber of commerce under direction of Mgr. E. W. (Ned) Butler.

Received from Frank A. De Patta, chairman of salvage activities here, for $57.50, receipts from the scrap iron drive, which will be turned over to the war council fund.

Granted permission to Helen Crawford to replace present signs at her new real estate location, 516 El Camino Real, with masonite panels.

Authorized City Atty. Paul A. McCarthy to prepare an ordinance to allow employment of a woman welfare worker at a salary of $167.50 plus the regular wartime $25 bonus now given all police officers.

Reappointed Willis Frost as a member of the board of review.

Approved claims totaling $11,363.53.

Zebra Act Highlights Folies

Patrons may be seeing stripes after the zebra act in the new Follies Bergere of 1944 at Winterland, in San Francisco, but seeing the act is worth a few stripes before the eyes, according to the show's producers.

The act opens with five Ben-Hur type carriages, drawn by teams of high stepping girls, who bring the excitement of a chariot race to the stage at Winterland. The girls, dressed as zebras with flowing white manes and bushy tails, then perform breath-taking precision dancing on the entire surface of the Winterland stage.

Featured in the act are four beautiful folies girls, who perform daring acrobatic feats upon the backs of four giant papier mache horses which are mounted on revolving bases.

All the rollicking fun of a circus comes to the stage when the Cristianis, famous Italian bareback riding family, run on the stage and keep the audience spellbound with a series of bareback riding tricks. The Cristianis delight the audience when five of them, moving as one person, run across the ring and leap to the back of "Baby," the family's 2300 pound percheron.

Accident Victim Sues for Damages

A. G. Haverberg, a pedestrian who was struck by an automobile while crossing Butler Rd. at Bayshore Hwy., South San Francisco, today in superior court at Redwood City filed suit against Ivan Lewis Fairlee for $15,000 damages.

Haverberg, who claimed his body was wrenched, bruised and strained, charged Fairlee, driver of the car, with carelessness and negligence. The accident occurred Jan. 24, 1943.

Norman Meyer Heads Toastmasters

Officers of the Toastmasters Club, elected at a meeting Monday are Norman Meyer, president; S. S. Mayo, vice president; Guido Bandolini, secretary-treasurer, and J. W. Thornton, sergeant at arms.

Speakers at the meeting were Dr. W. C. Gordon, E. B. (Mort) Mortensen, Chester Armstrong, S. S. Mayo and E. W. (Ned) Butler. L. T. Gately presided.

New York State has about 800 miles of navigable ocean, lake and river waterways.

Julia gives 3 good, hearty soup recipes

It's amazing, how many different varieties of hearty, stick-to-the-ribs soups there are—and how easy they are to prepare. Suppose I stir your imagination with some specific recipes?

MEATLESS BEAN SOUP

1½ cups dried beans
1 cup coarsely chopped onion
¾ cup thinly sliced celery
2 tbsps. shortening
9 cups water
1½ tsps. salt
¼ tsp. dry mustard
¼ tsp. thyme
¼ tsp. pepper
2 tsps. vinegar

Pick over and wash the beans. Saute onion and celery in hot melted shortening in heavy 4-qt. kettle until limp but not brown. Add beans and water; cover. Cook slowly until beans are mushy (about 3 hours). Mash beans. Add seasonings and vinegar. Serve garnished with egg or lemon slices. (Can serve 6.)

COUNTRY SOUP

2 medium-size potatoes
2 small turnips
3 small onions
1 large carrot
¾ cup sliced celery
2 tbsps. enriched flour
2 tbsps. cold water
milk
1 tbsp. butter or margarine
2 tsps. salt
⅛ tsp. pepper

Wash, peel and dice potatoes, turnips, onions and carrot. Add celery; cook in boiling water to cover in 3-qt. saucepan until tender (about 20 mins.). Drain vegetables, saving liquid. Cool vegetables thoroughly. Force through fine sieve, making about 5 cups puree. Make paste of flour and cold water; add to vegetable puree. Cook until slightly thickened (about 10 mins.), stirring frequently. Add vegetable liquid combined with enough milk to make 1½ cups, butter or margarine, and seasonings. Heat thoroughly. (Can serve 6.)

FISH-CORN CHOWDER

2 tbsps. drippings
2 tbsps. flour
4 cups milk
½ to 1 tsp. salt
¼ tsp. onion salt
1½ cups cooked flaked fish
1½ cups thinly sliced celery
2 cups whole kernel corn

Make white sauce: Melt drippings, blend in flour, add milk gradually and cook until thickened. Add remaining ingredients and heat well. Serve at once. Serves 6, allowing 1 cup per serving.

NOTE: One No. 2 can oysters can be used in place of fish.

Incidentally, ever stop to think that a good soup can be made immeasurably better by adding garnishes? It's true. And here are some suggestions:

For Thick Soups: Thin slices of lemon on bean or lentil soups—Thin slices of pickle, grated cheese or sieved yolk of hard-cooked egg on chowders—Rings of green onion stems or thin slices of onion on bean soup.

For Vegetable or Clear Soups: Popcorn—Bits of diced bacon—Thin slices of fried frankfurters—Thin slices of small tomatoes — Blobs of cottage cheese—Thin slices of hard-cooked egg.
